Alex Rose: Another Furrow in the Forehead

Tuesday June 17

Upfor Gallery
929 NW Flanders St.

Like Larry Clark and Gus Van Sant, artist Alex Rose often uses adolescent boys as subject matter. Rose, who is from Ireland, incorporates photographs of boys, books and sundry other objects into highly nuanced collages that are often artfully distressed. The artist doesn't give interviews, so it's hard to know what he's getting at thematically, but the works function well as pure objects, independent of symbolic context. Through June 28.
